

Decide When and How We Cover Your Overdrafts

Effective June 1, 2021

Overdraft Privilege — Checks and ACH Recurring Payments (Bill Payment)

This option comes with your account. ACCU is under no obligation to pay a check or ACH transaction which exceeds the available balance in an account. However, we generally let your checks and online ACH/BILL payments go through for payment. We will overdraw your account up to your pre-approved limit. We will charge a fee of $32.50 per overdraft. If an item is presented for payment multiple times, we will charge a fee each time the item is presented. The maximum number of overdrafts fees that we will charge per day is ten (10). The maximum amount of fees we will assess per day is $325.¹

Overdraft Privilege PLUS — ATM Withdrawals and One-Time Debit Card Transactions

This option comes with your account. We may also authorize ATM withdrawals and one-time debit card transactions that overdraw your account. If we do, we will charge an overdraft fee of $32.50 for each overdraft we authorize. The maximum number of Overdraft Privilege PLUS overdrafts processed per day is ten (10). The maximum amount of fees we will assess per day is $325.¹

1-The total maximum amount of overdraft fees includes both Overdraft Privilege and Overdraft Privilege PLUS transactions. This means that we will charge no more than ten overdraft privilege fees per day for both programs combined.

Other Options to Cover Your Overdrafts

You may link an account to lower your fees. You can link a checking account to a savings account or a line of credit. We will transfer funds from the linked savings account or your line of credit to cover transactions that overdraw your checking account. The fee to transfer funds from a linked account or line of credit is $7.50 per transfer.

Frequently Asked Questions About Overdraft Protection

What type of overdraft protection does the credit union offer?

Currently members have the option of linking a savings account or line of credit to their checking account. The credit union also provides overdraft protection for NSF and ACH transactions that comes standard with all business checking accounts, called Overdraft Privilege. Business Members will also have Overdraft Privilege PLUS that comes standard with all business checking accounts, which will also provide additional overdraft protection for ATM and one-time debit card transactions.

If I have Overdraft Privilege PLUS will the credit union continue to follow other overdraft methods?

If the member has established other overdraft protection methods, such as a transfer from a savings account, we will always look to cover your overdraft by those methods first before paying an overdraft from Overdraft Privilege or Overdraft Privilege PLUS. However, you must have sufficient available funds in the savings account to cover ALL of the transactions that overdraw your account in one day. If there are insufficient available funds in the savings account when the transactions post at the end of the day, all of the overdrafts will be assessed against the Overdraft Privilege/Overdraft Privilege PLUS program.

How do you decide which transactions to pay if several transactions are presented for payment at the same time and I do not have sufficient funds to cover all the transactions?

The order in which items are paid is important if there is not enough money in your account to pay all the items that are presented. We will pay transactions in the order presented to the credit union. If multiple checks are presented for payment on the same day checks will be paid in check number order, NOT by amount. This can affect the amount of fees that may be assessed against your account.

What is the difference between my “actual” balance and my “available” balance?

Your actual balance is the beginning of the day balance after the prior evening’s postings. Your available balance is the amount you have in your account at a particular time that is available for immediate withdrawal. Your available balance is updated throughout the day to reflect holds, pending transactions and cleared deposits. The difference between your actual balance and your available balance is the result of pending activity that has not yet posted to your account. We will use the available balance in your account to determine if you have sufficient funds to cover your transactions.

If I authorize a payment to a vendor by providing my checking account number and the credit union’s routing number, is that the same as using my debit card?

No, if you authorize a payment by providing your checking account number, the vendor will typically submit an electronic check or an ACH debit, which is different from a debit card transaction. If you do not have sufficient funds in your account to cover the transaction, we may elect to pay the transaction through our standard Overdraft Privilege program.

Can I choose to opt out of Overdraft Privilege and/or Overdraft Privilege Plus at a later date? Will you continue to pay my checks and ACH transactions if I opt out of Overdraft Privilege PLUS?

Yes, you may opt out of Overdraft Privilege and/or Overdraft Privilege PLUS by contacting the credit union by telephone, mail, online, or in person. You can contact a member service representative by visiting the branch office, calling at 800.343.6328, writing to P.O. Box 5100, Glendora, CA 91740, or emailing us at info@americasccu.com.

If you choose to opt-out of Overdraft Privilege we will no longer authorize payments of checks and ACH transactions if you do not have sufficient funds to cover the transaction. If you choose to opt out of Overdraft Privilege PLUS, we will no longer authorize payments of ATM and one-time debit transactions if you do not have sufficient funds to cover the transaction. If you choose to opt out of Overdraft Privilege PLUS only, we may continue to pay checks and ACH transactions, such as bill payment, up to your available overdraft limit, provided your account is in good standing and you continue to meet the requirements of standard Overdraft Privilege protection.

If I am charged an overdraft fee, is the fee amount included in my overdraft limit?

Yes, the fee does apply towards your overdraft limit.

How can I avoid overdrafts?

The credit union encourages you to properly maintain your accounts with us. The best way to avoid overdrafts is to keep an accurate transaction register and balance it to your monthly statement. There are helpful sources, such as online and mobile banking and Call24, that provide transaction information. Keep in mind, however, that these sources may not reflect outstanding transactions that have not yet posted to your account.

Federally Insured by

The credit union is federally insured by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). Added savings protection is provided by American Share Insurance (ASI) on qualifying member’s accounts in excess of that provided by NCUA. ASI is a credit union owned-share guaranty corporation.
