LESSON PLAN Exploring Money Beliefs

OVERVIEW

Our core beliefs about money shape our behavior and influence the many financial decisions we make. This lesson gives students the tools to identify and discuss their attitude toward money. Students will think critically about the source of their money beliefs and connect those beliefs to both positive and negative financial behavior.

GOALS

- Demonstrate how students' attitudes toward money can influence their personal finance decisions
- Help students identify their own beliefs about money
- Help students critique the source(s) of their money beliefs

O B J E C T I V E S

- Identify the four money personas and their underlying money beliefs: avoidance, status, worship and vigilance
- Match each of the money personas with examples of real-world behavior
- Compare and contrast different sources of financial information and behavior

ASSESSMENT

An optional quiz has been provided with this lesson plan (the quiz is not factored into the lesson's 45-minute runtime).

Did you know? This lesson plan adapts concepts explored in the book Mind Over Money: Overcoming the Money Disorders That Threaten Our Financial Health by Brad Klontz, PsyD & Ted Klontz, PhD.

INSTRUCTIONS

- 1. Ask your class the following questions and write their answers down on the board:
 - Who taught you about money?
 - Where do you go for financial advice or information?

Go through the students' responses and briefly discuss any pros and cons of each. Reference ACTIVITY A if required.

- 2. Introduce the topic: "You're aware that all these sources inform you about personal finance, but you may not realize that they also influence the attitude you have toward money. Today, we're going to look at some popular money beliefs."
- 3. Show VIDEO 12
- 4. Distribute HANDOUT 12
 - Allow students time to individually complete the personality quiz
- 5. Distribute ACTIVITY B
 - Have students pair up (preferably with a partner who has a different money persona than they do)
 - Ask one of the guiding questions and allow a couple of minutes for pairs to discuss
 - Switch pairs and repeat

6. Go over PRESENTATION 12

- At the title slide for each money bird, invite the class to share some of what they discovered in discussion with their classmates in ACTIVITY B
- Students can use the information in the presentation to fill out any missing sections of ACTIVITY B
- 7. Wrap up by sharing the following:
 - Our money beliefs come from a wide range of sources and affect our financial decisions
 - Identifying our money persona allows us to take advantage of our strengths and work on our weaknesses
 - Questioning our financial fears improves our relationship with money
- (Optional) Distribute QUIZ for individual assessment. Decide whether or not students can reference their notes/ handouts during the quiz.
- (Optional) Distribute extra copies of HANDOUT 12 for students to take home and share with their friends or family members.

GROUP BRAINSTORM

Directions: Ask the class the following questions and write their answers down on the board.

Guiding Questions:

- Who taught you about money?
- Where do you go for financial advice or information?

As a group, briefly discuss the pros and cons of each source. Use the chart below to guide the conversation, if necessary.

SOURCE	PROS	CONS
Parents and Family Members	TrustworthyHave your best interests at heart	 May not be money-savvy Attitudes toward money can vary dramatically in each household May disagree on financial priorities
Friends	 Facing similar financial challenges Easier to talk to than parents Realistic advice 	 Different backgrounds or circumstances (what works for them may not work for you) Limited financial experience
Financial Institutions, Financial Advisors or Financial Planners	 Experts in their field Professional advice Access to products, services and strategies you may not know about 	 Intimidating Services may cost money May have ulterior motives
Online Sources (Blogs and Forums)	 Private Easy to access and research 	 Credibility; misleading information Content authors may be trying to influence you to buy a certain product or service
Apps	 Efficient Helpful tools May help bring more mindfulness to your finances 	 More of a tool than an educational resource May cost money May require personal information

Additional sources include articles, books/ebooks, classes and workshops.
